Previsor Insurance Welcomes Three New Board Members

COLUMBIA — Previsor Insurance announces the appointment of three new members to its board of directors, as well as the full slate of board members for 2017. Previsor is licensed in Kansas and 17 other states near Missouri to provide workers compensation coverage businesses can count on.

Joining the board of directors are Gloria Carter-Hicks, Steve Burch and Tim Jackman.

“All three new board members will be a valuable resource to help us grow our regional footprint while providing more employers with top rated workers compensation insurance,” said Michael Kravchick, CEO of Previsor.

Gloria Carter-Hicks, of St. Louis, is the president and CEO of Hicks-Carter-Hicks. Her role involves consulting with executives on organizational development, change management, human resources, diversity and inclusion, and talent management. She has more than 20 years’ experience in human resources and organizational development.

Steve Burch, of Columbia, is retired from his position as Regional President, Mid-Missouri with U.S. Bank after more than 40 years in the banking industry. Prior to working with U.S. Bank, Burch held executive positions with Bank of America, Boatmen’s Bank and Commerce Bank and was an examiner for the Arkansas State Bank Department.

Tim Jackman, of Columbia, serves as Senior Vice President of Operations and Chief Operating Officer for Missouri Employers Mutual. In this role, he has direct accountability for Policyholder Services, Sales, Safety Services, Claims and CompLegal. Prior to joining MEM in 1995, Jackman held various positions in multi-line claims management at Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

Previsor is governed by a six-person board of directors. The additional three board members for 2017 include:

Jim Anderson, Springfield

Anderson is Vice President of Marketing and Public Affairs with CoxHealth in Springfield. Prior to joining CoxHealth, Anderson was president of the Springfield Area Chamber of Commerce. He spent nine years as president of the Jefferson City Area Chamber of Commerce and has served on the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission.

Jim Owen, Columbia

Owen is the president and CEO of Missouri Employers Mutual. He is responsible for the strategic development of the company, as well as overall management and business implementation.

Laura Ozenberger, Kansas City

Ozenberger retired from her position as Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer for Inergy, L.P. (now Crestwood). Her professional history also includes roles with Sprint and Baker & Sterchi (now known as Baker, Sterchi, Cowden & Rice).

A wholly owned and independently managed investment of Missouri Employers Mutual, Previsor partners with MEM to help businesses with Missouri and multi-state exposure protect their people and business’ bottom line. Learn more at www.previsorinsurance.com.
